Checkpoint Assessments

With Doug Strausbaugh

Senior Project Coordinator | Cambium Assessment

Checkpoint Agenda

Today's Tasks:

- Introduction to Checkpoint
 - What is Checkpoint?
 - Accessing the system via the Smarter Balanced or Science portal.
 - Logging in.
 - System Layout and Walkthrough.
- Viewing/Creating tests in Checkpoint
 - Accessing item libraries.
 - Creating and adding items to tests.
 - Creating tests using the Test Generator Wizard.
 - Publishing and administering tests.
- Administering tests via the TA Interface
 - Creating a Test Session.
 - How students access the test.
- Results
 - Accessing results in the Centralized Reporting System (CRS)

What is Checkpoint?

The Checkpoint system is a content creation tool. Educators can:

- Create test items
- Build tests
- Deliver tests to students via the Test Administration System (TDS) like they do for interim and summative assessments
- Retrieve scores from the Centralized Reporting System (CRS).

These Checkpoint-created items and tests can be used for various purposes such as pre- and post-testing and/or a check for understanding during instruction.

In addition to creating your own items and aligning them to state-standards, additional existing items are available to create tests with. There are also a number pre-populated tests for quick testing use. We will discuss these existing item libraries and existing tests in the next few slides.

Previewing a Test & Checking the Answers

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar with tabs for Home, Items, Tests, and Standards. Below this, there are buttons for Test Properties, Validate, Preview Test (circled in red), Build Test Booklet, and Publish Test. A sidebar on the left shows a list of items, with item 1 highlighted in a red box. The main area displays the item name: "Interpret Y-intercept of Linear Model Gift Card".

The detailed view shows the item title "Interpret Y-intercept of Linear Model Gift Card In Test: Test 332042(0)". A red circle highlights the "Item Score" icon. Below the title, there is a question number "1" and a text prompt: "Tyrice gets a gift card as a birthday present. The value of his gift card, y , in dollars." A graph is shown with the y-axis labeled "Value of Gift Card ($) " and the x-axis labeled "Number of Items Purchased". The graph shows a linear relationship with points at (0, 75), (1, 60), (2, 45), (3, 30), (4, 15), (5, 0), (6, -15), and (7, -30).

Test Generator Wizard

New this year to Checkpoint is the Test Generator Wizard.

This tool will allow you to quickly create a new test based on the same filters you use when creating a new test manually.

After making a few quick selections for subject, grade level, and standard, you can generate a test with a number of questions that you specify.

Once the test has been generated, you can preview and edit it to your liking by following the process discussed earlier.

Frequently Asked Questions:

- How do I share tests/items?
 - Tests/items can be shared to individual users at your school/complex area using the Share button at the top of the respective tab in Checkpoint. Groups of users can be created called “Work Groups” to allow you to share with multiple users at once.
- Why are the Smarter Balanced Interim and NGSS Interim libraries separate from the other libraries and unable to be printed?
 - The agreement for usage of Smarter Balanced and NGSS interim items within Checkpoint permitted the use of the items as long as it was guaranteed that their items would be kept separate from other items that had not gone through their rigorous item review process. Printing these items is disabled because it could potentially allow the inclusion of these items alongside other test items that are not included in these libraries.
